

Tools for Schools – Colorado Beef Council National Cattlemen’s Beef Association

The beef industry is committed to the practice of providing quality education materials that supplement your curriculum. The materials have been correlated with the Colorado State Academic Standards to aid you with your planning.

To learn more about the materials available, please visit the following websites:

Colorado Beef Council: www.cobeef.com/education.htm and look for the Classroom Materials section. All materials are FREE from the Colorado Beef Council. Standards correlations are listed on this website.

National Cattlemen’s Beef Association: www.teachfree.com houses all the resources available from the beef industry as well as many downloadable resources.

Youth Website: www.zip4tweens.com is a website dedicated to youth activities including games on food safety (Grillin’ & Chillin’) and a new game coming in September on portion sizing, as well as nutrition information.

NEW! Coming in 2006 will be a new video kit focusing on naturally nutrient-rich foods and portion sizes created in partnership with the American Dietetic Association. Check back in 2006 on either www.cobeef.com or www.teachfree.com to order your FREE video kit.
