

Essential Question
What was farming like in Colorado in the early 1900s?

Background Knowledge
Italians settled in Colorado towns such as Trinidad, Pueblo, Silver Plume, Denver, and Welby and by 1910 approximately 15,000 were documented in the state. Many played an important role in the development of the agricultural industries within our state.

Source 1
Marie Ferrero Cosimi
Oral History

Source 2
Mary DeBell Oral
History.

Strategy Instructions:
Questioning
Be The Interviewer
Annotated Image
Oral History Analysis
Sheet

Discussion
Students will answer the essential question after listening to both primary sources. The teacher will take the students words and write them on chart paper.

Assessment
Farming in Colorado: Then and Now Booklet