Program Description: Harrison High School ran a student led Challenge Day program for a select group of 9th grade students and students with special needs. It went awesome and is definitely something we hope to repeat in the coming years. We also have started running circles with our AVID Site Team and this has gone better than expected. This in turn has been used by our ninth grade site team members with their classes. We are looking at expanding this out of traditional 9th Grade AVID into our AVID Opportunity class next year using a curriculum that is in the midst of being developed and refined from our site visit to Nashville last January.

As these teams analyze student data, implement interventions, and monitor student progress, we will improve the collective efficacy of the 9th grade teams which will fuel the momentum and strengthen the Success Team system. Additionally, this new program adds an element of incoming 9th grade data review for teachers in the summer prior to students entering the 9th grade. Teachers will be able to analyze and discuss their incoming 9th graders data, review past interventions, and be prepared with interventions by the first day of school.
