This unit was authored by a team of Colorado educators. The template provided one example of unit design that enabled teacher-authors to organize possible learning experiences, resources, differentiation, and assessments. The unit is intended to support teachers, schools, and districts as they make their own local decisions around the best instructional plans and practices for all students.

Comprehension strategies help readers develop greater/deeper understanding of various texts. (CCSS.5.4a) (RWC10-GR.5-S.2-GLE.3-EO.b.i)*	Identify 5 strategies good readers use to help make meaning of text.	Why do good readers need and use a wide array of comprehension strategies?
Knowledge and understanding of morphology and word relationships help facilitate the development of reading skill(s) and vocabulary. (CCSS.RF.5.3a) (RWC10-GR.5-S.2-GLE.3-EO.a)	How are the words “spectator” and “respect” related? Explain how the common parts of these words give us clues as to their definition and relationship to one another.	How might a broad knowledge of spelling morphology help students?
Writing conventions and grammar impact an author/speaker’s ability to effectively communicate. (RWC10-GR.5-S.3)*	Compare and contrast methods of communication. Are some more formal than others?	Why does the use of grammar impact the effectiveness of a message? How might a person’s message be influenced by the formality of the setting?
Conflict that arises from the sharing of (diverse) perspectives can strengthen individuals’ listening and conflict resolution capacities (RWC10-GR.5-S.2-GLE.1-IQ.4)	What is conflict? (RWC10-GR.5-S.2-GLE.1-EO.b.i-iii)	How does point of view contribute to conflict? How can understanding point of view reduce conflict?

Colorado Teacher-Authored Sample Instructional Unit

Critical Language: includes the Academic and Technical vocabulary, semantics, and discourse which are particular to and necessary for accessing a given discipline.
 EXAMPLE: A student in Language Arts can demonstrate the ability to apply and comprehend critical language through the following statement: “Mark Twain exposes the hypocrisy of slavery through the use of satire.”

A student in _____ can demonstrate the ability to apply and comprehend critical language through the following statement(s):

While reading _____, it became clear that the main character was driven by both internal and external conflict. Internal/Eternal conflict was apparent ____ (insert text-based evidence here) ____.

Academic Vocabulary:

Conflict/resolution, perspective, inferences

Technical Vocabulary:

Internal conflict external conflict, character development, plot, theme

*These generalizations reflect the significant developmental components of reading and writing instruction essential for student mastery of the Colorado Academic Standards; they thread across the entire year and, thus, are included in every unit overview at this grade level.

Colorado Teacher-Authored Sample Instructional Unit

Unit Description:	In this 4-6 week unit, students will explore conflict and resolution through fiction and nonfiction readings. Students will analyze stories to be able to distinguish between internal and external conflicts. Students will then develop their understanding of how different points of view may add to a conflict or help resolve it. Students will write a well-developed written piece demonstrating their understanding of internal and external conflict as well as the resolution of a conflict.
Considerations:	This unit lends itself to being an interdisciplinary unit with social studies. Teachers may want to focus the Performance Assessment, a piece of historical fiction, on a topic from 5 th Grade Social Studies: the American Revolution, relationships between colonists and Native Americans, between colonists and England, or between colonists and African slaves. Texts that students would read, then, would be from that time period.
Unit Generalizations
Key Generalization:	Conflict can reveal disagreements and provide unique opportunities to bring about positive forms of change
Supporting Generalizations:	Conflict that arises from the sharing of (diverse) perspectives can strengthen individuals' listening and conflict resolution capacities
	The acknowledgement of and attention to multiple points of view often provides the essential first step in resolving interpersonal conflict
	Internal and external conflict can help drive characters' actions and reactions in narrative texts
Ongoing These Generalizations, addressed throughout the Unit (and the entire year), are explained below in the Ongoing Learning Experiences section.
Ongoing Generalizations / Learning Experiences	Comprehension strategies help readers develop greater/deeper understanding of various texts. (CCSS.5.4a)
	Knowledge and understanding of morphology and word relationships help facilitate the development of reading skill(s) and vocabulary. (CCSS.RF.5.3a)
	Writing conventions and grammar impact an author/speaker's ability to effectively communicate. (RWC10-GR.5-S.3)*

Performance Assessment: The capstone/summative assessment for this unit.
Claims: (Key generalization(s) to be mastered and demonstrated through the capstone assessment.)	Conflict can reveal disagreements and provide unique opportunities to bring about positive forms of change.
Stimulus Material: (Engaging scenario that includes role, audience, goal/outcome and explicitly connects the key generalization)	The principal of your school is very interested in helping students better handle conflicts! Knowing that you and your classmates are experts on this topic, the principal has asked that you create short written and visual products that illustrate internal/external conflict and conflict resolution. You may base your work on historical characters or literary characters but your task is to reveal the internal and external conflict which the people/characters experienced along with the ways in which they worked to resolve the conflict(s). Role: Literary/conflict expert Audience: Fellow students Format: Story and storyboard, Graphic novel, Poster with visuals and text Topic: Conflict/conflict resolution

Product/Evidence: (Expected product from students)	Students will write a well-developed story that reveals internal and external conflict and provide resolution. Topics may be chosen from the social studies curriculum or current events that have conflicting points of view/perspectives and which give students opportunities to explore internal/external conflicts.
Differentiation: (Multiple modes for student expression)	Students may choose, with teacher guidance, a specific genre within the larger mode of narrative: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Graphic novel/story • Storyboard • Play • Story • Diary (or series of diary entries) • Series of correspondence between two characters • Historical Fiction

Student Resources:	NA
Assessment:	Students will complete graphic organizers that demonstrate their understanding of the language of conflict. http://www.adlit.org/strategies/22369/ (Frayer Model) http://www.d11.org/Instruction/Literacy.LanguageArts/Academic%20Vocabulary/Academic%20Vocab%20Strategies/6-step%20organizer.pdf (Marzano’s Six-Step Organizer) The class will create a word wall for conflict vocabulary. http://www.readingrockets.org/strategies/word_walls (Word wall exemplars), http://www.schoolexpress.com/wordwalls/wordwalls.php (Site to create word-wall flash cards)
Differentiation: (Multiple means for students to access content and multiple modes for student to express understanding.)	Access (Resources and/or Process)	Expression (Products and/or Performance)
	Teachers may provide opportunities for small groups Teachers may provide guided notes	Students may complete Frayer or Marzano’s graphic organizer with partners
Extensions for depth and complexity:	Access (Resources and/or Process)	Expression (Products and/or Performance)
	Teachers may provide different scenarios for students to explore external/internal conflict (e.g., peer pressure; parent-child; coach-player)	Students may explain the conflicts in the scenarios by exploring the differences in the perspective (the coach’s perspective vs. the player’s perspective) and using appropriate conflict vocabulary
