This unit was authored by a team of Colorado educators. The template provided one example of unit design that enabled teacher-authors to organize possible learning experiences, resources, differentiation, and assessments. The unit is intended to support teachers, schools, and districts as they make their own local decisions around the best instructional plans and practices for all students.

The Colorado Academic Standards for Health describes what learners should know and be able to do as they develop proficiency in health. The utilization of knowledge and skills to enhance physical, mental, emotional and social well-being will be supported in each unit through the standard areas of Physical and Personal Wellness, Emotional and Social Wellness and Prevention and Risk Management.

Critical Language: includes the Academic and Technical vocabulary, semantics, and discourse which are particular to and necessary for accessing a given discipline.

EXAMPLE: A student in Language Arts can demonstrate the ability to apply and comprehend critical language through the following statement: “Mark Twain exposes the hypocrisy of slavery through the use of satire.”

A student in ______________ can demonstrate the ability to apply and comprehend critical language through the following statement(s):

- I will be able to identify various aspects of puberty and understand the structures and functions of the reproductive systems.

Academic Vocabulary:
- Functions, Relationships, Influence, System, Cycles, Emotions, Behavior, Practices

Technical Vocabulary:
- Reproduction, Puberty, Embryo, Fetus, Menstrual cycle, Hygiene
Colorado Teacher-Authored Sample Instructional Unit

Unit Description:
This unit examines the structure and function of body systems and the changes that occur as we mature. Throughout the unit students will explore the physical and emotional characteristics of the maturation process, make personal connections to their individual growth and development, and establish positive coping skills. The unit culminates in a performance assessment that asks students to help their peers recognize the natural changes that occur to human bodies at developmental stages.

Considerations:
The male and female growth patterns and changes in the body will be physical transformations that most if not all 5th graders will begin to see happening on a personal level. This unit addresses the Colorado Academic Standards designed to help students recognize and understand these changes as natural and universal. The focus, then, is on both the physical and emotional aspects associated with human development that occurs during puberty and includes discussions of the functions of the male and female reproductive structures.

It is understood that some Colorado school districts teach this content in single sex classroom environments. Therefore, some of the learning experiences are gender specific (e.g., #s 8 & 9) and may or may not be appropriate for all classrooms. In addition, the authors recognize that some schools/districts require signed parental permission forms before students can participate in discussions related to the content of this unit

Performance Assessment: The capstone/summative assessment for this unit.

Claims:
(Key generalization(s) to be mastered and demonstrated through the capstone assessment.)

- Changes during puberty can often dramatically alter personal thoughts, emotions, growth patterns and behaviors.

Stimulus Material:
(Engaging scenario that includes role, audience, goal/outcome and explicitly connects the key generalization)

- As a guest student-health magazine columnist, you have been asked to create a “guide” for your peers in the form of a friendly advice letter. The “guide” is intended to help your peers better understand some of the physical (and emotional) changes associated with maturation and puberty. Your letter should address the following questions:
  - What are some changes that happen to your body during puberty?
  - Why does puberty begin and end at different ages for different people?
  - Why are some aspects of puberty “embarrassing”?

Product/Evidence:
(Expected product from students)

- Students’ letters will explain physical and emotional changes they experience as their body and behavior transition through puberty and suggest possible positive ways to manage those transformations. The letters may include information that addresses appearance, height, hair growth, changes in voice, mood changes, menstruation, acne, body odor, etc. http://www.eduplace.com/activity/letter.html (Letter writing template and activities)

Differentiation:
(Multiple modes for student expression)

- Students may:
  - Verbally articulate thoughts to the teacher in lieu of a written letter (audio recording)
Texts for independent reading or for class read aloud to support the content

Prior Knowledge and Experiences

These ongoing learning experiences build upon a presumed (student) working knowledge of the concepts such as functions, relationships, influence, systems, cycles, emotions and behavior. This unit will develop these concepts so students have a working knowledge of the changes that occur during puberty and how the physical and emotional development will impact their overall health and wellness.

Learning Experiences # 1 – 10
Instructional Timeframe: Teacher Determined

Learning Experience # 1

The teacher may introduce the topic of human maturation and reproduction so students can discuss why this topic can be embarrassing, funny, intimidating, etc.

Critical Language:
Pregnancy, trimester, fetus, zygote, embryo, infant, toddler, pre-adolescence, adolescence, adult

Learning Experience # 6

The teacher may use texts/images that illustrate the stages of human growth and development so students can anticipate future changes in their personal growth and development.

Generalization Connection(s):
Changes during puberty can often dramatically alter personal thoughts, emotions, growth patterns and behaviors

Teacher Resources:

Learning Experience # 7

The teacher may use texts/images to introduce hormone production so students can describe the function of hormones and their effects on the body.

Generalization Connection(s):
- Changes during puberty can often dramatically alter personal thoughts, emotions, growth patterns and behaviors

Teacher Resources:

- www.healthychildren.org (American Academy of Pediatrics)

Assessment:
- Students will complete a thinking map to compare and contrast the three major hormones and the role of hormones in causing the changes of puberty.

Differentiation:
(Multiple means for students to access content and multiple modes for student to express understanding.)
- The teacher may provide a partially completed thinking map
- Students may work with partners to complete the thinking map
- Students may individually (or with partners) complete the partially filled-in map

Extensions for depth and complexity:
- Students may utilize the Hormone Olympics activity to evaluate the effects of hormones on the body to create a presentation for the class

Critical Content:
- The variances and factors of puberty

Key Skills:
- Discuss aspects of puberty

Critical Language:
- Hormones, pituitary gland, testosterone, estrogen, prostaglandin, variance, influence, relationships, emotions, changes, puberty, growth patterns, behaviors
Learning Experience # 8

The teacher may use various texts focusing on physical changes in the male body that occur during puberty so students can associate these changes with personal development (e.g., growing hair, acne, body odor).

Students will choose one advertising campaign specifically aimed at adolescent boys to critique its claims, images, etc.
- http://www.tennessee.gov/tsla/educationoutreach/worksheets_ad.pdf (Modifiable list of questions to pose to kids as they analyze their advertisement)

Differentiation:
(Multiple means for students to access content and multiple modes for student to express understanding.)
- The teacher may provide an advertisement for a health care product for the students to critique and determine purpose
- The teachers may provide advertisements that utilize the home language of students
- http://www.tennessee.gov/tsla/educationoutreach/worksheets_t_ad.pdf (Modifiable list of questions to pose to kids as they analyze their advertisement)

Extensions for depth and complexity:
- The teacher may provide an advertisement for a health care product for the students to critique and determine purpose
- The teachers may provide advertisements that utilize the home language of students

Access (Resources and/or Process)
- Students may create their critique with a fellow student or in a small group
- Students may orally dictate their responses to the critique questions to the teacher or fellow students

Expression (Products and/or Performance)
- Students may draft a proposal for the creation of personal puberty kits to support their own adolescent needs (e.g., deodorant, soap, hair care products, etc.)

Critical Content:
- The variances and factors of puberty
- The health care products affect personal hygiene

Key Skills:
- Discuss aspects of puberty
- Examine effective personal health care products

Critical Language:
- Hygiene, products, emotions, changes, puberty, growth patterns, behaviors, acne, body order, healthy body image, feelings, thoughts
Learning Experience # 9

Description

The teacher may use various texts focusing on physical changes in the female body that occur during puberty so students can associate these changes with personal development (e.g., growing hair, acne, body odor).

Generalization Connection(s):

Changes during puberty can often dramatically alter personal thoughts, emotions, growth patterns and behaviors.

Teacher Resources:

- AMA’s Girl’s Guide To Becoming a Teen by American Medical Association
- www.healthychildren.org (Article – Ages & Stages/Puberty/Physical Development of School Age Children)
- Sex, Puberty and All That Stuff by Jacqui Bailey (A guide to growing up)
- What’s Happening To My Body? by Lynda Madaras, Area Madaras (Book for girls)
- The Care and Keeping of You: The body book for younger girls by Valorie Schaefer
- What’s Happening to Me? by Susan Meredith
- Into Adolescence: A Time of Change by Catherine S. Golliher (Teaching human sexuality for grades 5-8)

Assessment:

Students will choose one advertising campaign specifically aimed at adolescent girls to critique its claims, images, etc.
