TestNav Desktop App Release Date

TestNav Desktop is an installable TestNav client designed to reduce dependency on the Java plug-in used by internet browsers. It is an optional solution. The supported versions of the Internet Explorer, Firefox, and Safari internet browsers can still be used to complete online testing instead of the TestNav Desktop App.

The scheduled release date for the TestNav Desktop App is September 15, 2015.

Following the release, additional documentation and setup links will be available through the following link: <https://support.assessment.pearson.com/x/BQACAQ>
