EL Data Dig 101

http://www.cde.state.co.us/cde_english/el-data-digs-how-to-tool

EL Data Dig Tool

- Background – why was it created?
 - District/school requests
- Intent – how is it to be used?
 - Gather the recommended data and look for patterns and trends in ELs' language development and academic performance
 - Dive into district or school data --- power is in the digging
 - Provides a starting point --- not the ending point
 - Data should be supplemented with other local data
 - Identify trends --- successes and areas in need of improvement
 - District-level --- minor changes can be used for school
 - Statewide data is provided for context setting
 - most meaningful analyses will be looking at the local longitudinal trends and patterns

How Is It to Be Used?

Do's

- Read all the way through the tool before beginning
- Pick or formulate the questions that are most relevant to your entity
 - Do you have access to this data to answer selected questions?
 - Is the data structured so that you can answer your questions?
- Formulate other questions
 - Data available → questions OR Questions → data available
- Identify the best comparison group(s)
 - State? Other schools in district? Schools in other districts? EMH?
- Determine the best inclusion and exclusion rules
- When possible, use multiple years of data
- Document the process used
- Validate all analyses

How Is It to Be Used?

Don'ts

- Stop with just these questions
- Use data in an unintended or inappropriate way
- Merge data across sources without the right expertise
- Use an unreliable source
- Compare to inappropriate group(s)
- Misinterpret the data – read more into it than what it says
- Forget any caveats to the data being used
- Forget the dangers of data misuse
- Hesitate to ask for help

Structure of the Tool

- List of recommended data
- Terms and acronyms
- Guiding questions with tables to help set up the data to be analyzed

Guiding Questions

Designed to Walk You Through Your Data

- Language development – how long does it take? Differences across schools, EMH levels, etc.
- Reading, Writing, Math, and Science Performance of EL's
- What other services or programs?
- Looking at Growth
- Making Adequate Growth
- Plan for using the data
- Determining the additional data needed

Language Development

- On average, how long does it take students that come into the district at the NEP level to re-designate into monitoring status (M1)?
 - Recommended disaggregation:
 - By EMH level
 - By school and school feeder patterns
 - By entering grade / cohorts (for example, students that were NEP and entered the district in first grade compared to those who entered in kindergarten, etc.) [the recommendation is to track individual students across years]
- Repeat for LEP students

Length of Time ELs have been in ELD Program

Language Proficiency of Identified Students	Average Length of Time It Takes to Exit the Program
NEP	On average, 5 or 6 years from NEP to FEP
LEP	On average, 3 or 4 years from LEP to FEP

Average Length of Time to Reach Language Proficiency

NEP	5 to 6 years
LEP	4 years
TOTAL	4 to 6 years

Only available at the local level (no state comparison at this time)

Content Performance

- In future years, use PARCC ELA and math.
- Current year, use local assessment and possibly CMAS science and social studies
- For prior years, use TCAP
 - Assess how many EL students performed at each proficiency level on TCAP reading, writing, and mathematics (breakdown by NEP, LEP, and FEP Monitored Year 1 and 2, and FEP – exited students).

Develop questions that are relevant and important to you and then structure your tables to answer that question.

What to Do Next?

Keep Diving Deeper

Identify areas of concentration and ask questions such as

- What are the demographics of the students in each cell?
- How were they identified for the EL programming that they are currently receiving?
- How many years have they been in program and at the current proficiency level (both on CELA/ACCESS and CSAP/TCAP, when available PARCC)?
- What evidence is there that the EL programming is meeting individual student's needs?
- What other supports, services, or programs are these students receiving?
 - Of the ELs who scored at each proficiency level on CSAP/TCAP Reading, Writing, Math, and Science, how many of them have an IEP? For example, of the students who were proficient on reading, how many had an IEP? [Repeat for each level]
- Repeat analyses from year-to-year for a longitudinal look at student performance. How does each cell of data compare across years (inclining or declining trends)?

How did our EL students perform on R TCAP across years?

Next Steps

- Build the plan for diving into your own data.
- Select parts of EL Data Dig Tool that fit your needs.
- What data will be needed?
- Who else from your district/school team needs to be involved in diving into the EL data?
 - Who can help with question development?
 - Who can help with data pull and structure?
 - Who can help with interpretation?
- Who should hear the results of the data dig and when?
- How can the results be used to inform programmatic work and decisions?

Additional Data

- What additional data is needed to evaluate the English Language Proficiency (ELP) program?
 - At the school level?
 - At the district level?
 - Examples:
 - Graduation rate
 - Courses taken/completed
 - Dropout rate
 - Discipline data
 - What would be the most appropriate source for the needed data?
- What is the plan for analyzing, interpreting, and using additional data?
