Brief description of artifact

This packet provides detailed information for seniors and parents, including: an overview (benefits, requirements, and steps); the process and guidelines for considering and selecting a topic and project; communications and approvals regarding faculty and mentor; tracking and reflection; and guidance regarding the Senior Project Portfolio and Speech. Samples, forms, and rubrics are included.

Brief description of the process resulting in the artifact

University High School has required senior projects for over 20 years. University High School has five pathway diplomas, and the senior project is required for all. Last year they revised the requirement to include more accountability and consistent quality. They borrowed heavily from ThunderRidge High School’s documents and processes for the poster requirement and the senior board presentations.

Senior Project Mission Statement

The University High School Senior Project is designed to foster students’ ability to be self-directed and independent learners.

The Senior Project will also provide a cumulative evaluation instrument to validate a senior student’s ability to research from a variety of media, design and complete a project, and teach others about the project in a formal presentation.

Congratulations to the Class of 2016! As a K-12 school, we have watched many of the students in our senior class grow from children into young adults. Every year, I’m astonished at how quickly high school goes by. At University High School, we strive to prepare students to become leaders, lifelong learners and caring citizens. Toward this goal, one of the important learning experiences that all students who graduate from University Schools have in common is the senior project.

The senior project has been a graduation requirement at University Schools for many years. Last year, we updated the paperwork and the process to provide students with support and structure to help them successfully complete the senior project. These activities, deadlines and documents will guided students, one step at a time, as they envision, plan and carry out a project that is unique to their interests and talents.

The first step in the process is a letter of intent which will require each student to explain his/her project. Students will create posters to communicate and celebrate their projects with the wider school community, and they will present their project to a review board for final approval in April 2016. The boards will be made up of teachers and community members who will use the rubric on page 29 of this document to evaluate their speech.

Students must successfully complete and present their senior projects to graduate from University High School. A successful Senior Project journey involves parental, community, and teacher support as well as student initiative and self-discipline.

Students, in a few short months, you will become high school graduates. You will have gained knowledge, skills and habits that you will continuously draw upon as you go forward to success in your careers, community and family lives. It is my hope that your senior project becomes one of those experiences you will look back on and celebrate how much you learned.

Yours truly,

Ms. Sample, High School Principal
Senior Project Overview

The purpose of the Senior Project is to give students a chance to choose an area of study, to combine different disciplines, to explore new avenues in a productive manner, and, at the same time, to help others and contribute to the community. Each student needs to address a challenging issue that will stretch his/her intellectual and personal growth. In essence, the project will provide a significant learning stretch. It should be relevant to the community at large and/or give insight to a field that he/ she may want to pursue as a career.

Benefits of the Senior Project

Once the graduating senior has completed the Senior Project, he or she will have completed a task that has brought maturity, organization, service, learning, and public speaking skills to fruition. It is also important to note that students will be creating and completing these types of projects in their post-high school careers as well. Any student planning to attend a college or university will have to complete major projects like this as a part of the university experience. Most careers also require employees to complete similar projects. Students will have experience in real-world tasks.

These projects can, and should be, creative and unique. There is no limit to what a student can do to challenge himself or herself, to learn and help others in the process.

Any of the projects described in this booklet show that the student has used a host of skills that will set him or her apart from other seniors.

Project Guidelines

The Senior Project is different from most other forms of research because it directs students away from books and out into the world for some hands-on experience. The Senior Project must demonstrate a learning stretch. It should push the student to develop new talents, abilities, or interests. The Senior Project cannot be something previously attempted. The student must have an end product! Simply completing the field log and accompanying paper work does not constitute a project! If the purpose of research is to apply the knowledge in a personal way, then the projects will be as diverse, unique, and varied as the students who design them.

A project will:

- Demonstrate a learning stretch through a well-designed project
- Require documentation of a minimum of 30 hours participation
- Require a completed Mentor Verification Form
- Require a daily Field Work Journal documenting the daily student experience, documents ongoing progress, daily challenges, problem-solving techniques
- Require evidence of physical field work or physical product

Note To Students Who Want The Easy Way Out:
Some students think that it is a cinch to choose what they think is an easy project. They think to themselves, “I’ll just choose something that won’t take much time or effort, just to get it done. I’ll take my C and see you later.” Without exception, the students who have done this found several things to be true:

1) Easy wasn’t true because there wasn’t much to the project in the first place.
2) There was no challenge or risk; therefore, the whole experience was unsatisfying.
3) They did not feel proud of their accomplishment because there was none.
4) They wasted their time.

How to Find a Mentor:

Finding a good Mentor (one who is invested in your project and your success) is an important part of the Senior Project. Many adults in the community are interested in helping students obtain real world experience; however, they rarely have the opportunity. This is their opportunity. Locating a mentor will teach you valuable skills in regards to networking with working professionals and communicating within the framework of an adult world.

How to locate a mentor

1. Have a topic.
2. Brainstorm people you know (no high school faculty or family members can be mentors)
3. Brainstorm other options including UNC students and faculty, local businesses, and people in, and outside of, the geographic area
4. Narrow down the list. If one person stands out, contact them. If there are several options, email several people and wait for a response.
5. Be patient (wait 2-5 days)
6. Continue to attempt to contact potential mentors if you receive no responses from your initial inquires.
7. If you do not receive any responses via email, try calling the business or individual directly. Phone calls and personal requests are more difficult to ignore.
8. It will take time. Be persistent.

Dear Mr./Ms. Doe:

Paragraph I: Overview of Senior Project: Introduce yourself. Explain what the senior project is. Be sure to include: all requirements, the timeline and the rationale. (All of this info is in this booklet!)

Paragraph II: Detailed information about your project: Outline what your individual project will be. Why did you choose this project? What do you hope to learn? What do you want to do? What will your product be? What is your timeline from beginning to end.

Paragraph III: Role of the Mentor: Explain what role you see your mentor playing in your project. What will you need from him/her? What will his/her time commitment be? How often do you think you would need to meet/talk? It’s important to be clear about your expectations of a mentor- he/she will have to verify that you completed your project and he/she should know what he/she is signing up for.

Paragraph IV: Closing: A short closing thank you statement highlighting your excitement and appreciation that he/she will work with you to achieve your project goals.

Sincerely,

Senior Project Mentor Agreement Form

Dear Mentor,

_________________________ has chosen you to be his/her product/fieldwork mentor. You will be asked to verify the student's effort on his/her physical product/fieldwork. Since most of the time spent on the product phase of the assignment will be outside of the classroom, verification of the student's efforts is necessary. Be aware that serving as a mentor requires a time commitment from you that includes regular contact. Please read the student’s Letter of Request to Mentor for the Senior Project expectations as well as the personal expectations. Your effort to assist and support our students is truly appreciated and we thank you for your time.

Physical Product/Field Work Journal

During the physical product/fieldwork phase of the Senior Project, you must keep an up-to-date record of the effort, results, and time you have spent working on your physical product/fieldwork. This log is important for several reasons. First, it keeps you on task and focused by requiring you to write down all that you have accomplished so far and what you still need to complete. Second, it helps keep a record of the time spent on the physical product/fieldwork. Finally, the physical product/fieldwork log allows the teacher and the Senior Board Judges to realize the effort, thought, and learning stretch you have expended. It will give them a clearer idea of the scope of your physical product/fieldwork.

Expectations: 12 entries minimum totaling a minimum of 30 hours
1. The log should describe what you do at one time in specific detail. You should not wait until the end of the week, for example, to write several entries or to try too many activities in one log entry. Either way, you would probably be too general.
2. The log must include contacts you make with your mentor(s) and others who assist you along the way.
3. The log should report successes, surprises, disappointments, and changes.
4. The log must be typed - remember that both your teacher and judges will read it - but it need not have the serious tone that a research paper does.
5. The date on each activity should be included at the top of each entry.
6. The number of minutes/hours spent on that day’s activity should be reported at the end of the entry in parentheses. That number should be reasonable. Going to the library to pick up one book would not reasonably take three hours, for example.

Words of Advice for Your Speech

Prepare
Public speaking is prepared speech- it is very different from conversation and extemporaneous speech.

Organize your speech so that basic ideas are repeated. Make sure your speech has a BEGINNING, MIDDLE, and END.

Review your previous documentation (letter to the judges, your letter of intent, and the Senior Project handbook). Make sure your speech has a major idea that your listeners will remember after you are finished talking.

Practice
Practice many times until the speech seems natural. Practice in front of many audiences: the mirror, your pets, your parents, your siblings, your friends, and your advising! Don’t just pick positive audiences. Ask your audience for advice on how to improve.

Don’t try to dazzle. Just try to be sincere.

Use Visual Aids
Use pictures, charts, graphs, costumes, tools, video, samples, etc. (Remember: One of the lessons you may have learned during the whole process is asking for help. SO ask for ideas for useful visual aids from your teacher or mentor.) The visual aid must be integrated in your speech. These are props; they can help you get over nervousness if necessary. Make sure they are big enough for your audience and the judges to see. Remember, you are responsible for the technical preparations for your presentation! If your technical presentation does not work the day of the Boards, you must have another alternative.

... AND then practice again! You won’t be as nervous if you are well prepared and have practiced.

REMEMBER that you are acting as a representative of both yourself and your high school when you give your speech to the Boards. Each Board will have at least one community representative. The community judges will be evaluating not only your speech but also the entire school community.
I. Introduction: Who you are, and what you hoped to achieve
   A. Hook: Use a story, personal experience, background info, a joke, a quote…create a "hook" to catch the audience's attention.
   B. Introduce yourself.
   C. State your purpose and goal (from Letter of Intent)

II. Body: The "Lesson": What was your project? Discuss process of accomplishing project. Show your application of learning.
   A. Background of interest in project
      1. Prior knowledge
      2. Reasons for choosing project
   B. Describe project design, product, and fieldwork
      1. Explain how you went about completing your project
      2. Discuss problems of the project and their solutions
      3. Discuss time and costs involved and how to meet those demands
   C. Explain one key aspect or key skill from your project: show the judges how you applied your learning.

III. Conclusion: Reflect on your project
   A. Discuss the learning stretch
   B. Evaluate your product in terms of your goal
   C. Overall reflection and personal insights
