Colorado Teacher-Authored Instructional Unit Sample

Unit Title: Can’t We Just Get Along?

Reading, Writing, and Communicating
5th Grade

This unit was authored by a team of Colorado educators. The template provided one example of unit design that enabled teacher-authors to organize possible learning experiences, resources, differentiation, and assessments. The unit is intended to support teachers, schools, and districts as they make their own local decisions around the best instructional plans and practices for all students.

Colorado 21st Century Skills

- Critical Thinking and Reasoning: Thinking Deeply, Thinking Differently
- Information Literacy: Untangling the Web
- Collaboration: Working Together, Learning Together
- Self-Direction: Own Your Learning
- Invention: Creating Solutions

Common Core Reading Foundational Standards

- Phonics and Word Recognition:
  - CCSS.RF.5.3 Know and apply grade-level phonics and word analysis skills in decoding words.
  - CCSS.RF.5.3a Use combined knowledge of all letter–sound correspondences, syllabication patterns, and morphology (e.g., roots and affixes) to read accurately unfamiliar multisyllabic words in context and out of context.

- Fluency:
  - CCSS.RF.5.4 Read with sufficient accuracy and fluency to support comprehension.
  - CCSS.RF.5.4a Read grade-level text with purpose and understanding.
  - CCSS.RF.5.4b Read grade-level prose and poetry orally with accuracy, appropriate rate, and expression.
  - CCSS.RF.5.4c Use context to confirm or self-correct word recognition and understanding, rereading as necessary.

Critical Language: includes the Academic and Technical vocabulary, semantics, and discourse which are particular to and necessary for accessing a given discipline.

EXAMPLE: A student in Language Arts can demonstrate the ability to apply and comprehend critical language through the following statement: "Mark Twain exposes the hypocrisy of slavery through the use of satire."

A student in ______________ can demonstrate the ability to apply and comprehend critical language through the following statement(s):

While reading ________, it became clear that the main character was driven by both internal and external conflict. Internal/Eternal conflict was apparent ___ (insert text-based evidence here) ___.

Academic Vocabulary: Conflict/resolution, perspective, inferences

Technical Vocabulary: Internal conflict external conflict, character development, plot, theme

*These generalizations reflect the significant developmental components of reading and writing instruction essential for student mastery of the Colorado Academic Standards; they thread across the entire year and, thus, are included in every unit overview at this grade level.
Unit Description: In this 4-6 week unit, students will explore conflict and resolution through fiction and non-fiction readings. Students will analyze stories to be able to distinguish between internal and external conflicts. Students will then develop their understanding of how different points of view may add to a conflict or help resolve it. Students will write a well-developed written piece demonstrating their understanding of internal and external conflict as well as the resolution of a conflict.

Considerations: This unit lends itself to being an interdisciplinary unit with social studies. Teachers may want to focus the Performance Assessment, a piece of historical fiction, on a topic from 5th Grade Social Studies: the American Revolution, relationships between colonists and Native Americans, between colonists and England, or between colonists and African slaves. Texts that students would read, then, would be from that time period.

Unit Generalizations

- Key Generalization: Conflict can reveal disagreements and provide unique opportunities to bring about positive forms of change

- Supporting Generalizations:
  - Conflict that arises from the sharing of (diverse) perspectives can strengthen individuals’ listening and conflict resolution capacities
  - The acknowledgement of and attention to multiple points of view often provides the essential first step in resolving interpersonal conflict
  - Internal and external conflict can help drive characters’ actions and reactions in narrative texts

Ongoing

These Generalizations, addressed throughout the Unit (and the entire year), are explained below in the Ongoing Learning Experiences section.

- Comprehension strategies help readers develop greater/deeper understanding of various texts. (CCSS.5.4a)
- Knowledge and understanding of morphology and word relationships help facilitate the development of reading skill(s) and vocabulary. (CCSS.RF.5.3a)
- Writing conventions and grammar impact an author/speaker’s ability to effectively communicate. (RWC10-GR.5.5.3)*

Performance Assessment: The capstone/summative assessment for this unit.

- Claims: Conflict can reveal disagreements and provide unique opportunities to bring about positive forms of change.

- Stimulus Material: The principal of your school is very interested in helping students better handle conflicts! Knowing that you and your classmates are experts on this topic, the principal has asked that you create short written and visual products that illustrate internal/external conflict and conflict resolution. You may base your work on historical figures or literary characters, but your task is to reveal the internal and external conflict which the people/characters experienced along with the ways in which they worked to resolve the conflict(s).
  - Role: Literary/conflict expert
  - Audience: Fellow students
  - Format: Story and storyboard, Graphic novel, Poster with visuals and text
  - Topic: Conflict/conflict resolution
Product/Evidence:
(Expected product from students)

Students will write a well-developed story that reveals internal and external conflict and provide resolution. Topics may be chosen from the social studies curriculum or current events that have conflicting points of view/perspectives and which give students opportunities to explore internal/external conflicts.

Differentiation:
(Multiple modes for student expression)

Students may choose, with teacher guidance, a specific genre within the larger mode of narrative:
- Graphic novel/story
- Storyboard
- Play
- Story
- Diary (or series of diary entries)
- Series of correspondence between two characters
- Historical Fiction

Prior Knowledge and Experiences

Students should know basic literary elements for narrative, text features and other elements of non-fiction and informational texts, basic researching skills, and the writing process from planning through polished piece.

Learning Experience # 1

The teacher may facilitate class discussion so that students can understand the underlying factors that create conflict and be able to define external and internal conflict.

Generalization Connection(s):
Conflict can reveal disagreements and provide unique opportunities to bring about positive forms of change

Teacher Resources:
- http://www.slideshare.net/gherm6/conflict-in-literture1 (Conflict in literature)

- http://www.thirdside.org/Apply.cfm (3rd Side; resource on conflict and conflict resolution)

Student Resources:
NA

Assessment:
- Students will complete graphic organizers that demonstrate their understanding of the language of conflict.
- The class will create a word wall for conflict vocabulary. http://www.readingrockets.org/strategies/word_walls (Word wall exemplars), http://www.schoolexpress.com/wordwalls/wordwalls.php (Site to create word-wall flash cards)

Differentiation:
(Multiple means for students to access content and multiple modes for student to express understanding.)

Access (Resources and/or Process)
- Teachers may provide opportunities for small groups
- Teachers may provide guided notes

Expression (Products and/or Performance)
- Students may complete Frayer or Marzano’s graphic organizer with partners

Extensions for depth and complexity:

Access (Resources and/or Process)
- Teachers may provide different scenarios for students to explore external/internal conflict (e.g., peer pressure; parent-child; coach-player)

Expression (Products and/or Performance)
- Students may explain the conflicts in the scenarios by exploring the differences in the perspective (the coach’s perspective vs. the player’s perspective) and using appropriate conflict vocabulary
Critical Content:
- The difference between internal and external conflict

Key Skills:
- Define the difference between internal and external conflict
- Read grade-level text with purpose and understanding

Critical Language:
- Internal, external, perspective, values

Learning Experience #2

The teacher may use fiction texts rich with external/internal conflicts (e.g., The Dog Who Cried Wolf) so that students can extend their understandings of conflict within and between characters. [Understanding text]

| Generalization Connection(s): | Conflict that arises from the sharing of (diverse) perspectives can strengthen individuals’ listening and conflict resolution capacities. Internal and external conflict can help drive characters’ actions and reactions in narrative texts |
| Teacher Resources: | http://www.readwritethink.org/classroom-resources/lesson-plans/examining-plot-conflict-through-802.html (Students explore picture books to identify the characteristics of four types of conflict: character vs. character, character vs. self, character vs. nature, and character vs. society.) |

| Internal Conflict: | The Dog Who Cried Wolf by Keiko Kasza |
| | Ira Sleeps Over by Bernard Waber |
| | Hey, Al by Arthur Yorinks |
| External Conflict: | Coyote Cry by Baylor Byrd |
| | Lorax by Dr. Seuss |
| | The Story of Ferdinand by Munro Leaf |
| Student Resources: | Texts and conflict maps, plot lines graphic organizers |
| Assessment: | After reading text selections, students will complete a conflict map and plot line. |
| Differentiation: | (Multiple means for students to access content and multiple modes for student to express understanding.) |
| Access (Resources and/or Process): | Teachers may provide opportunities for whole class and small group discussion |
| | Teachers may provide opportunities pre-populated plot maps for students to complete |
| Expression (Products and/or Performance): | Students may complete plot line, conflict chart, with teacher or partner assistance |

Learning Experience # 3

The teacher may use a variety of fiction texts so that students can begin to understand that characters develop as a result of conflict. [Understanding text, Responding to text]

Generalization Connection(s):

Conflict can reveal disagreements and provide unique opportunities to bring about positive forms of change. Internal and external conflict can help drive characters’ actions and reactions in narrative texts

Teacher Resources:

- The Lions of Little Rock by Kristin Levine (Lexile = 630)
- Counting on Grace by Elizabeth Winthrop (Lexile = 760)
- The Storm in the Barn by Matt Phelan (Graphic Novel: Lexile = 430)

Critical Content:

- How authors use multiple points of view to create and resolve conflict.

Key Skills:

- Compare and contrast different perspectives

Critical Language:

Internal/external conflict, perspective, point of view

Learning Experience #5

The teacher may use non-fiction reading materials so that students can begin to understand conflict in current real life or historical situations. [Understanding text, Responding to text, Producing text]

Generalization Connection(s):

Conflict can reveal disagreements and provide unique opportunities to bring about positive forms of change. Internal and external conflict can help drive characters’ actions and reactions in narrative texts.
